

COAL STRIKE ON, GOVERNMENT IS PREPARED FOR ANY MOVE

WILL PROTECT MINERS WHO WANT TO WORK AND QUELL ANY DISORDERS THAT OCCUR

About 42,000 are out in the Pittsburgh District and Fairmont-Clarksburg Region is Tied Up for First Time in Its History; Majority of Them Walk Out at 4 O'clock Friday Afternoon, Though Some on Night Shifts Continue Until Midnight.

EXPECT UNORGANIZED WORKERS TO QUIT TOO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—That the miners must make the next move in the soft coal strike, was the opinion today of government officials.

The strike was a reality today even though directing heads of the United Mine Workers of America were restrained from activity by federal court injunction. Government officials awaited reports as to the extent of the walkout for upon this information rested the future course of the government.

Should reports show a considerable number of miners desire to continue work, the government was prepared to furnish them protection. Should disorders occur the government was ready with all the police powers at its disposal to put them down.

UNIONS CLAIM 42,000 OUT IN W. PA.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—Approximately 42,000 miners in the Pittsburgh district went on strike today in response to the order of the United Mine Workers of America, according to officials of District No. 5 of the organization. The number represents practically 100 per cent of the coal production of Western Pennsylvania. Most of the men walked out at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the end of their shifts, it was announced by district headquarters.

About five per cent of the 42,000 miners worked night shifts and this number went into the mines yesterday and worked until last midnight when they, too, joined the strike, union officials said.

They declared also that they have assurance from nearly all of the 10 per cent of the unorganized miners in Western Pennsylvania that they will join the strike.

CLARKSBURG-FAIRMONT FIELD TIED UP

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 1.—Reports received at the headquarters of District No. 17 United Mine Workers of America today indicated that approximately 42,000 had answered the strike call in West Virginia. With one or two exceptions, where organized miners are working under recent contracts and with the exception of the men left at the mines to protect the property, union officials asserted that the response to the call was 100 per cent.

The report does not include the Randolph-Trucker county coal region, district officials said, although some of the union men in that district, which is not thoroughly organized, may have walked out.

By noon hundreds of miners, many of them carrying handbags and grips, were drifting in from all directions, coming on trains, street cars and bicycles and some of them walking. All was quiet, however, and there was no indication that the strikers felt other than in a good humor. The heavy rain which started last night, continued throughout the morning. Many rumors were about as to what the strikers contemplated doing and what will be the duty of the military authorities which during the night established a camp containing 400 regular soldiers of the Army in the heart of the city.

The military men were secretive. The miners' officials were outspoken. "It is now a question as to whether the United Mine Workers of the federal government is going to be the stronger," said D. C. Kennedy, secretary of the Kanawha Coal Operators' association.

The statement issued from the local headquarters of the West Virginia Coal association says: "Coal production in West Virginia today is 50 per cent of the normal production, despite the fact that it is pay day at the mines and that it is a holiday generally observed by the foreign miners."

The state investigation of industrial conditions in Logan county under the direction of Major Tom B. Davis and Colonel George S. Wallace was resumed here today in the chamber of the police of delegates at the capital and a number of witnesses, including five organizers of the United Mine Workers, testified regarding efforts to organize the Guyan valley field.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 1.—For the first time in the history of the Fairmont region, a general strike is on, affecting 21,000 miners in northern West Virginia and between 14,000 and 15,000 in District No. 4, which includes the Fairmont, Morgantown and other territory. The whistles blew at the mines as usual today but the men did not respond. So far no disorder has accompanied the "walkout" and operators believe that no extra policing will be necessary. Whether mine operators or officials of the United Mine Workers would make any statements.

The Baltimore & Ohio exercised its priority right and seized 800 cars of coal here.

CABIN CREEK MINERS ON MARCH TO CHARLESTON, W. VA. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 1.—Between 300 and 400 miners, striking employees of the Coalburg Coal & Coke company, the Dry Branch and the Wet Branch companies on Cabin Creek, started on a march toward Charleston this morning, despite the rain and orders of district officers launched here next Friday.

How Republicans Can Answer Chairman Crow's Call To Duty—Voting The Straight Ticket.

State Chairman Crow's stimulating call to duty at the polls will be responded to by Republicans with enthusiasm, and can be answered so simply that the chairman's confident expectations of a sweeping victory will be more than realized.

All that will be required is that Republicans GET OUT THE VOTE; REFUSE ALL OVERTHROWERS FOR "COMPLIMENTARY" VOTES OR TRADING; BY VOTING THE STRAIGHT TICKET.

On page seven of The Courier today is a reproduction of a specimen ballot showing that placing an X in the square opposite the name "Republican" in the first column is all that will be required to defeat the schemes of the Democrats to have you put your ticket in the hope of having your ballot invalidated and some Democratic candidate profit thereby.

MURRAY SAYS MEN FROM FAYETTE PLANT REPORT MINES CLOSED

Investigation Fails to Disclose Any Operation Below In This Section.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—All union miners in Western Pennsylvania and a great many non-union miners were idle today, according to reports received by Philip Murray, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America.

The men responded to the order, 100 per cent, according to Murray. "and my information is that a great many non-union men came with them. This is particularly true of the Westmoreland and Fayette county fields. There is now in my office a committee of miners from a mine in Fayette county where 500 men have been employed and they have told me that not only their mines but a number of other non-union mines are down."

Inquiry relative to the claim of 500 miners idle at a Fayette county mine failed to reveal any down because of the strike, but Bazzoni, which is in the Monongahela river district and a union plant. The Washington Coal & Coke company and the Steel Corporation mines in this part of the county are all working, it was learned.

LOSES BOX OF BUTTER

It Falls Off Truck and Two Men in a Ford Get Away With It.

On Thursday afternoon, while Bill Yates, truck driver for S. N. Osborn, was on his way to Dunbar with a load of produce, a box containing 30 pounds of butter fell off on the road just beyond McNeill. Yates did not miss it until he got to Dunbar.

Two men in a Ford runabout were seen to pick the case up and put it in their machine. They drove quickly away but not before the delivery of a furniture truck had caught sight of them. The latter gave chase but his machine was too slow and the men with the butter disappeared toward Dunbar. He got the number of the machine, however, and informed Yates. Mr. Osborn says he is waiting to see if the "finders" of the precious butter make any move to return it before he prosecutes. The box contained 30 pounds of a well-known brand.

YOUTH AT FLOOD STAGE

Almost Eight and One-Half Feet Recorded; Crest Reached.

Due to the heavy rains of Friday and Friday night, the Youghiogheny river was at flood stage today. When Patrolman P. M. Rull made the measurement from the Crawford avenue bridge this morning at 8 o'clock the stage was 8.40 feet as compared with 2.65 feet last evening. A stage of eight feet and a half feet is not a dangerous one as no damage results.

The stream was stationary at noon, the stage being just the same as when the morning measurement was taken.

State Chairman Crow Calls All Republicans to Duty in Ringing Message

In a ringing clear-cut and stirring message issued this morning, State Chairman W. F. Crow, reminds Republicans of the obligations resting upon them to do their full duty as citizens and voters at the election next Tuesday. This clarion call of militant Republicanism is as follows:

If the Republicans of Fayette county do their full duty as citizens and voters, the success of the entire county ticket at the polls next Thursday is assured.

With clean records to stand upon and splendid qualifications to back up their claims for consideration, the Republican candidates in their canvass of the county have impressed voters as being the fit and proper persons to whom the county's most important offices should be entrusted for the next four years.

But more than that, citizens everywhere and without regard to party, are realizing that the election of the full Republican ticket is necessary at this time.

An aggressive, true-blue Americanism, of the Republican party type, is needed to stop the dangerous drift toward radicalism which is now sweeping the land, poisoning the very fountain heads and threatening the destruction of law, order, liberty and the happiness of our people.

What our soldiers did in Europe to save civilization and free government for the world, must now be done by different means to save this country and its institutions for these same dauntless youths, for labor, for business, for farming and for industry in all its varied forms.

Continued security of life, property, government and the rights of citizenship cannot be vouchsafed without Republican victory in the state and nation next year and that victory cannot be assured without local victories this year.

The obligations at this time resting upon Republicans are, therefore, sacred and binding. The full county ticket must be supported and elected. There must be no yielding to enticements of the opposition or those working in their interest, to give complimentary votes, to trade votes or otherwise aid in giving their party some standing as the basis for next year's campaign. If otherwise, the success of the Republican ticket will be endangered this year and still more gravely endangered next year.

Your duty as a Republican and citizen is plain but simple. Get out the vote in your precinct. Vote the straight ticket and counsel every other Republican to do the same. Keep close watch upon all suspected election crookedness. Make note of names, witnesses and circumstances and make prompt report. The Democrats cannot out-vote us but they may make desperate efforts to count out our ticket.

Keep constantly before you the fact that the Republican party, Fayette county or the nation owes absolutely nothing to the Democratic party or to any member of it.

As the party of Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and Roosevelt, we do owe the country the fulfillment of the solemn pledge to return our government to the people; to make it safe and sane for the people, and to guarantee to all classes and conditions of men that it shall be a government by the people.

That's the duty of Republicans at the polls next Tuesday. Dare you neglect or evade it?

GEORGES DEMOCRATS, NOMINATED BY FRAUD, FAIL TO WITHDRAW

County Commissioners Cannot Stipulate Names of Candidates.

Act; Swaeney Arrested.

Georges township Democrats failed to keep faith in their promise to withdraw from the Republican ticket for township officer, as was promised by their counsel, Attorney H. S. Dum-bauld they would do following the exposure of frauds in connection with the primary election September 16. At the county commissioners' office it was said no withdrawals had been filed and that unless this was done the commissioners could not strike out the names. The men who withdrew, at was promised were D. Ford Swaeney, candidate for road supervisor, and S. J. Wainman and Clifford Hostetler, for school director.

Warrants for the arrest of Ewing B. Swaeney and D. Ford Swaeney on information charging criminal conduct in connection with the primary were served yesterday on the defendants who waived hearings and gave bail for the December term of court.

RAIN FALLS DURING 18 DAYS OF OCTOBER; TEMPERATURE HIGH

Vegetation, Unaffected by Light Frosts, Continues to Grow as in the Late Summer.

Inspection of the daily weather record at the West Penn offices shows that rain fell 18 days of October and that three other days the skies were overcast, leaving but 10 in which the sun shone.

The month was abnormally warm. The highest temperature recorded was 89 on the 3rd. The lowest was 37 on the 13. During 13 days the thermometer reached at 75 degrees or above for the maximum was 70 degrees while during 16 days the minimum was 60 degrees.

Effects of the abnormally warm weather is seen in the growth of vegetation. White leaves have been falling steadily they are not nearly as down. As a rule the weeds are bare November 1. Gardens in places are growing as in September. Tomatoes continue to ripen. Something remarkable almost everywhere is that pumpkins are laden with bloom. The first frost has not affected them. In fact there has not been enough frost to do any material damage.

SOME COAL, BUT ONLY VERY LITTLE, CONFISCATED HERE

Auditors for B. & O. Here Yesterday Checking Shipments Over the Division.

STEAM COAL PROVIDED FOR

Practically All Necessary for That Purpose is Drawn from Mines Not Affected by the Strike; Deficiency From W. Va. Can Easily Be Made Up.

An order was received last night at Connellsville division headquarters of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, under the supervision of which is also the Connellsville division of the Western Maryland, to put into effect at once the priorities regulations of the Fuel Administration governing the transportation of coal. The order came from the director general of railroads.

During the emergency of the soft coal miners' strike the order provides, the following preference list in the shipment of coal: Railroads, Army and Navy, together with other departments of federal government, state and county departments and institutions, public utilities, retail dealers, manufacturing plants, on War Industries board's preference list, jobbers, lake, sidewater.

As to the supply of coal for steam purposes on the Connellsville division the Baltimore & Ohio anticipated no trouble. Practically all the coal used for that purpose on the division is drawn from the mines not affected by the strike. Some comes from West Virginia but this deficiency can easily be made up elsewhere in the division, it is understood.

Auditors from headquarters of the company in Baltimore were here yesterday checking coal shipped over the division. It was said this morning that some shipments had been confiscated here for railroad use, but not much. Only when it becomes absolutely necessary will this be resorted to, it was said.

General Superintendent J. F. Keegan was in Connellsville yesterday in conference with local officials relative to the strike situation. He left later in the day for Cumberland.

STRIKE AFFECTS LOCAL REGION ONLY INDIRECTLY

Directly, the strike of soft coal miners does not affect the Connellsville region. Indirectly, it does, principally through establishment by the government, through the revived Fuel Administration, of the fixing of maximum prices at which coal may be sold and restoration of the priorities rule in coal shipments. It should stimulate the demand and there seems to be no doubt that it will.

The H. C. Frick Coke company and the independent operators are unaffected by the strike. Production was proceeding today at the normal rate for a church holiday. This is all Saints Day and many of the Catholic faith make it a rule to attend church services. Output is decreased to that extent only.

At the office of the Frick company at Scottdale it was said that about 10 per cent of the late were off duty for the day. This was due to reasons having no relation to the strike. In the first place, today being All Saints Day, practically all Catholic miners laid off for religious services; second this was "check" day, the day on which workers drew their store checks; third, it was raining and this had more or less effect on the number of men reporting for work, fourth, the opening of the season drew away some workmen. No one is striking, so far as was known, and practically all are expected to be back for work Monday. From the independent operators came information almost identical.

A number of Connellsville coal operators having mines in the affected districts suspended this morning when the men failed to report for work. This in some instances was not confined to the unorganized mines. In West Virginia districts situated close to union mines the non-union workers quit also.

Under a ruling of the Fuel Administration coal for by-products purposes, large quantities of which are shipped from the Connellsville region daily, will be diverted to essential industries, the railroads, public utilities, etc. This will not mean curtailed production but rather will there be an increased demand.

Some operators said this afternoon it would be unable to operate except at a loss at the maximum prices fixed by the Fuel Administration—$23.50 for run of mine and $2.60 for prepared coal or lump. Prices above these figures have ruled for the better part of a year or since the rate fixing period for the war emergency expired. Denial was made of claims that about double the maximum is being received.

In the absence of reassuring messages of safety, the horrible suspicion is being entertained that the daring and intrepid adventures in the cause of political purity have themselves been captured by the evil spirits, whom they have been pursuing with eager zest.

ORDER REMOVING DIFFERENTIAL IN RATE RESCINDED

Insurance Commissioner Accedes to Request of Governor.

BOARD HAD OBJECTIONS

Also Manager of State Insurance Fund, Who, With Governor Sprout, Doubtful of Making a Change in Rate Relation With the Companies.

The efforts of Insurance Commissioner Thomas B. Donaldson to remove the 10 per cent differential in favor of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund as against stock and mutual insurance companies writing compensation insurance, have come to naught. Following the receipt by him of a letter from Governor Sprout directing the rescinding of the former order of removal of the differential, Commissioner Donaldson has taken action as directed.

Some weeks ago, without previous consultation with either the governor or the State Workmen's Compensation Board, Commissioner Donaldson issued an order directing the insurance fund to write insurance at the rates prescribed by an act of the last legislature for all stock and mutual companies. The fund had been writing insurance from the beginning at a rate 10 per cent below the rate of other companies. Commissioner Donaldson held the opinion that the accumulation of a surplus by the state fund made the continuance of the differential unnecessary hence, under the discretion lodged in him by the act, he ordered discontinuance of the differential.

The action was protested by Governor Sprout and members of the board and by many patrons of the fund and Commissioner Donaldson was asked to reconsider his action. This he has done, according to the following statement issued by him: "Pursuant to the communication from the governor and at his request and solely for that reason the insurance department notified the Pennsylvania Rating and Inspection Bureau that the state fund is to be allotted a reduction of 10 per cent from uniform rates in 1920. The new compensation rates for Pennsylvania will be announced within ten days."

Governor Sprout in his letter to Commissioner Donaldson directing the rescinding of the order, said: "In view of the protests made to me by the members of the State Workmen's Insurance Board and of the representatives made by the manager of the State Insurance Fund, I believe it would be unwise to change the present status of the state fund in its rate relation with the other insurance companies doing business in the state. The state fund is progressing in a very satisfactory way, and it has been of great service, and until such time as the state has been reimbursed for the funds advanced to the state insurance organization, I do not believe we should make any change or do anything which would tend to impair its business. Moreover, I see no warrant for making the change under the provision of the law, as I construe it. "I will therefore ask you to rescind the order you have recently issued placing the state fund upon the same rate basis as other insurance organizations, and to allow the matter to stand as it has been heretofore."

Only a Cold.

Are you ill? It is often answered—"Oh it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears, take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.—Adv.

LESSONS IN OPTOMETRY

By L. W. MYERS, Opt. D.

LESSON TWENTY-TWO

Explain further about the less noticeable effects of eye strain.

Optometrists have come to see that many conditions, other than those usually attributed to eye strain, are really so caused. Indeed, the leading

Optometrists are constantly adding to the list of physical ailments that eye strain causes, and today many claim that any unnatural condition that is persistent, and that cannot be accounted for by any other explanation, should be attributed to eye strain.

How long after glasses are first worn before relief is noticed?

The benefit is usually immediate, though it may be some time before the glasses are worn with comfort.

Then a patient has to get used to glasses?

Yes, it may require from a few days to a month before the patient is wearing the correction with perfect comfort. See explanation in next lesson.

WORK OF THE RED CROSS HERE AT HOME.

In view of the third Red Cross Roll Call which begins tomorrow, the publication of Mrs. Reynolds' report of the work done by the home service department of the Connelville branch ought to be more than merely interesting as a document. The history of the American Red Cross in Connelville, it should be an inspiration to a revival of interest in the splendid mission of "The Greatest Mother in the World," in peace as well as in war.

The public knows in a large and general way what the Red Cross did as an agency of mercy during the World War. Similarly it has known of its activities in times of great public disasters in all parts of the world. People in Connelville know how faithfully the members of the Connelville branch labored day after day to provide the full quota of knitted garments, surgical dressings and hospital supplies for use in the hospitals at home and overseas. Not until the publication of Mrs. Reynolds' report has there been opportunity for the community at large to obtain definite knowledge of the extent, variety and scope of the activities of that department which is coming in such intimate touch with and doing so much to alleviate distress and suffering among people of all ranks.

The report of Mrs. Reynolds covers but a few days over a month, during which time aid was rendered to an average of almost one family a day. This is truly a remarkable record, considering the work was being inaugurated and organized during that period. More than that, it is a revelation of the extent to which there is need in Connelville and vicinity for the continued extension of just such an agency as the Red Cross. Without the information contained in this report it would perhaps be difficult to convince many persons that there are so many cases in this vicinity requiring aid of the character supplied by the home section as has been shown. In this connection it should be borne in mind that the report covers a period when the necessity for assistance is much less urgent, and the number of cases is smaller than it was during the months immediately ahead. What the demands will be when winter weather is upon us in earnest cannot be forecast, but it is quite certain that they will increase very largely.

These facts and conditions, both now and in prospect, should have very thoughtful consideration by all persons who have at any time since its organization in Connelville been enrolled as members of the Red Cross. The Roll Call which begins tomorrow is not an appeal for subscriptions to the Red Cross. It is merely to remind members of the privilege they have of renewing their membership, upon the payment of $1.00, and thereby bring to them the satisfaction of having a real part in such splendid service as is being rendered by the home section.

STILL MORE REPUTATIONS.

The list of candidates for New Freedom Democrats seems worthy of being further reduced in number.

As noted in these columns yesterday the recently issued "Confidential Guide" to voters has eliminated six out of 12 of the Democratic candidates. The increasing certainty that even this reduced number cannot be elected has made necessary resort to still other more desperate measures put at least a corporate guard of candidates across. In an effort to "strangle" something from the wreckage of New Freedom hopes and aspirations there is being circulated a leaflet which shows that only four of the original 12 Democratic candidates are still regarded as being in the race.

Although issued from New Freedom headquarters this latest contribution to the literature of "A Retreat to Victory" bears the signature of the "Independent Patriotic Political Committee," an organization, which has the same form of existence in reality as the much pursued but not yet located Phantoms of the First Ward, Connelville.

Addressed to "Mr. Citizen, Mr. Voter and Mr. Taxpayer" this circular "recommends for your consideration" just four candidates now on the Democratic ticket—Shell, Lenhart, John L. Robinson, Herbert Dugan and Jess J. Swaney—but is so slight upon the remaining nine candidates as to completely confirm the suspicion prevalent for some days that the bulk of the ticket was to be dumped or sacrificed in a frantic effort to achieve the semblance of party success.

This ruthless elimination of the major portion of the ticket will, of course, incite the satisfied candidates and their friends to unabating enthusiasm in support of the hand-picked quartet which are alone regarded by the barefoot pickers as "clean, competent and trustworthy."

EXERCISE OF AUTHORITY, NOT ABROGATION OF RIGHTS.

The temporary injunction of the United States District Court restraining the executives of the United Mine Workers from inaugurating the strike by members of that organization is not an "abrogation of the right of citizenship" guaranteed under the Constitution, as Acting President Lewis so violently proclaims.

It is merely stating in terms would-be revolutionists will not misunderstand the determination of the government to exercise its sovereign power to "enforce its laws and protect its people against disaster," that was impending because of the obstinate refusal of the miners' executive to heed appeals or to render obedience to an imperative command of the President.

The right of workmen to organize or to quit work of individuals is not denied by the injunction. In the petition upon which the injunction was granted this fact was made clear, and specific. But under the Lever Act neither labor nor capital, nor any other combination or organization of individuals acting as such have the right to either restrict the production, destroy the product, or interfere with the transportation of a necessary article of food or fuel.

Coal is a necessary commodity, the interrupted production of which would result in disaster, suffering, loss of human life and general paralysis of industry. The executives of the mine workers planned to stop the mining of coal, hence had become amenable to action under the law. The fact that the interruption to production had been devised as a means of enforcing a demand for an increase of wages does not alter the case. The law does not take into account the circumstances leading up to the proposed restriction of a necessary commodity. It is concerned only with the facts of such a restriction or attempt to restrict.

A grave crisis was threatened, the consequences of which would have been disastrous. In such circumstances the government does not have the supreme power and authority to intervene, we have reached that stage in popular government when there is urgent need for broader powers to be granted. But the government does already have the power. The exercise of it in the interests of the public is the government's first duty. That duty will be declared in spite of any and every defiance the miners' executives may have the boldness or hardiness to offer. Thus they must realize if they have not already done so.

THE DUTY OF REPUBLICANS

Uniontown Herald.

Senator Crow, in his splendid message, pertinently reminds each Republican:

Keep constantly before you the fact that the Republican party, Fayette county or the nation owes nothing to the Democratic party or to any member of it.

And again:

The obligations at this time resting upon Republicans are, therefore, sacred and binding. The full county ticket must be supported and elected. There must be no yielding to enticement of the opposition or those working in their interest to give complimentary votes, or otherwise aid in giving their party some standing as the basis for next year's campaign. If elected, the success of the Republican ticket will be endangered this year and still more gravely endangered next year.

Yes, if the Republicans of Fayette do their full duty as citizens and voters, the success of the entire ticket at the polls next Tuesday is assured. There is every indication that they will do so. There is every sign that they are eager to do so. Reports from all parts of the county point unmistakably to the conclusion that the voters are determined to give the New Freedom just exactly what the hypocrisy and the methods of its leaders and its organs deserve—a sound licking. Seldom, if ever before, has the trend of sentiment of the people to the Republican party before an election been so pronounced.

As we said before, The Herald has no apology to make for the definiteness with which it speaks in behalf of clear-cut Republicanism, and it has no apology for any brand of Republicanism which may have time for trivialities or bargaining, indifference, or well-defined differences between the great parties and particularly between the Republican party and its candidates and the foes of enlightened individualism, fervent nationalism and representative Republican government. Every Republican must Tuesday do his full duty as a Republican and citizen by voting the straight ticket and counseling every other Republican to do the same.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood, and purifying the entire system. A SHARP RISE IN THE OUTPUT OF BEEHIVE COKE IN WEEK OCT. 18

Was 57 Per Cent of Pre-Strike Average; At No Time Has It Dropped to Last Summer's Slow Season.

The weekly bulletin of the United States Geological Survey states that a sharp rise in the production of beehive coke in the United States occurred during the seven days, October 12-18, the fourth week of the steel strike. The total output is estimated at 382,146 net tons, an increase over the preceding week of 77,093 tons, or 25 per cent. The increase was shared by all districts except Alabama, Tennessee, and Georgia.

The week's production was by far the largest since the steel strike began to cut into the demand for coke. This is shown by the following statement in which the current production of beehive coke is compared with the average of the four weeks immediately preceding the strike.

During the first week of the strike coke production was 78 per cent of the pre-strike average; 71 per cent in the second; 69 per cent in the third and 87 per cent in the fourth. At no time since the strike began has the output of beehive coke been forced as low as the level which prevailed during the slack season of last season of last summer. Production during the fourth week of the strike was greater than during any week from March 29 to August 2.

Production in the several districts compared with the corresponding week in 1918 is shown in the following:

Big Lot of Hay Fever Jokes

But Kentucky Man Says—"People Who Belong to Hay Fever Colony are Kidding Themselves."

Wouldn't Be Any Rose or Hay Fever if Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINTY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city. "But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."

"The annual crop of hay-fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get an ounce of Mentholized Arcline and by just adding water that has been boiled make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer."

"Many of my hay-fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and sniff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear and in cases where it does show up is very mild and does not annoy."

Go to a real live druggist when you get ready to make a pint.

WEEKEND BATCH OF NEWSY NOTES FROM OLD DUNBAR

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, Oct. 31.—With today closes the most remarkable October remembered by our oldest citizens. Never before was it known that beans, pumpkins, tomatoes and all varieties of autumn vegetables and flowers were green and in bloom the last day of October. No blighting frosts, no checking of pastures, no stoppage in the growth of garden vegetables, but from the poles and vines of the garden are gathered food as abundantly as in ordinary years the first weeks of September. Instead of being made, many of the trees and especially the apple, cherry and peach trees are fully green, and the sort of green that indicates abundant life. Last year was lean, in fact unusually poor, this year greatly surpasses it. If each successive season continues thus to outstrip its predecessor the day is not far distant when summer will reach out its arms to Christmas and spring begin with the new year. Whether this unusual autumn indicates permanent climatic changes remains to be seen, but at any rate the mild weather is the benefactor of any who feel the blight of poverty, or are suffering from inability to secure coal. Providence is much more merciful than the "patriotic" profiteer.

Many of the citizens of Dunbar township question the wisdom of the school board in putting the township in the lists as an independent school district. The citizens contend that the township will now have to pay its own teachers, and the teachers will be larger losers in missing the stimulus of the big county institute, the enthusiasm of which in all the years past has blessed and benefited all the schools whose teachers attended. The great uplift of the county institute can never be attained in the small local district institute, any more than the political ward meeting can compare with a monster mass meeting at which the great men of the nation stir the people to concerted action. By combining with Connellsville the expense will be divided and better results attained than could be by the township alone, but it will be a long step between even the best they can afford and the program County Superintendent Carroll has provided for the remaining 700 teachers of the county. No doubt the Dunbar township teachers will make the most of the limited meal afforded, but some of them can hardly refrain from attending the banquet at Uniontown the week before Christmas that they have their share of the inspiration and share with the regular army the benefits of the grand annual reunion. Before making the township an independent district it might have been well to have submitted the question to a vote of the people, many of whom while wishing the venture success, are still "from Missouri."

All the Halloween masquerades were well attended and were very successful in spite of the fact that both Monday and Thursday evenings were disagreeable.

A party of young people from Dunbar attended a Halloween party at Keister Tuesday evening and report a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donahoe of Wehrem who have been visiting their brother-in-law, J. B. Senor of Keffer, for a week, returned home last Sunday. Mr. Senor and his son J. G. driving them over in the big "super-six." After enjoying a good supper the Senors drove back home little affected by the showers of the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. E. E. Miller and daughter Gladys of Keffer, who have been suffering from tonsillitis for the past several days, are able to be about the house again.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Keffer of Clairton now occupy their new home recently purchased from J. W. McClain of Ferguson road. The goods were brought through by auto truck last week. Mr. Keffer and daughter, Miss Coralee, came up Friday evening and he returned to his work at Clairton Sunday evening. Miss Coralee entered the Dunbar township high school Monday, having been transferred from the sophomore class of Clairton high to the same grade in the D. T. H. S. The younger daughter, Miss Helen, has entered the Pechin school.

Mrs. C. W. Baker of Pechin returned home Monday after spending a few days with relatives at Clairton.

Mrs. J. L. Keffer of Keffer was visiting her sister, Mrs. Howard Franks, and other relatives in the vicinity of Masontown over Sunday.

Charles Harvey has the foundation of his new business block on Woodvale street, between the railroads, completed. He expects to push the building rapidly to completion, and if the weather continues favorable expects to have it under roof by the holidays or sooner.

Jacob Swearingen of Dunbar was transacting business in Uniontown on Thursday.

J. W. Boyer is making some substantial improvements on Water street in front of his residence, widening the street considerably.

Miss Elizabeth Moore of this place, one of the popular teachers in Mt. Braddock school, North Union township, was able to return to duty yesterday morning after having been off two days with tonsillitis.

Louis Baer and Frank Frost were doing jury duty last week.

Arthur McCusker was transacting business in Uniontown Thursday.

Mrs. Elva T. Burbanck and little grandson, Todd, were recently visiting relatives and friends in Uniontown.

Mrs. Beryl Corn and children, May, Wendell and Wendell, of Ironton, O., are spending a few weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Barnes, of the furnace.

Mrs. J. B. Barnes, Jr., was visiting relatives in Pittsburgh last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. McCoy of Swiss vald were visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boyer, of Water street this week. While here they enjoyed a few days' visit with friends at Grays Landing.

C. S. Kerchner, superintendent of the American Manganese Manufacturing company's plant here, returned from a business trip to Philadelphia this week.

Rev. R. F. Swift, a Baptist minister from Johnson City, Tennessee, has located in Dunbar and is serving Baptist churches in different sections with a view to possible location. His daughter located in Dunbar and desiring to be near her father came also. If he becomes located in some church he will make his home in this county. He is quite an affable gentleman and is not likely to be long without a charge.

Mrs. Ralph Miller has returned to her home in Dryville, after having spent several weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Foltz, of this place.

Some of the finest apples ever seen in the town have been on display in the window of David Williams' general store. They are known as "Twenty-ounce Pippins," and are attracting a great deal of attention.

Mrs. Milton Williams, who has been on the sick list for some time, is improving and expects soon to be well. Mrs. Mary Johnson and daughter, Mary, of Keffer, were visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Fair, of Morgantown, W. Va., over Sunday.

The members of the Pechin school district have set an example it would be well for others to emulate. They gathered in a company clad in fantastic costumes, their faces effectively disguised, and march from house to house making friendly calls, but keeping as mum as the Sphinx. The plan is to mystify the residents so they cannot discover who they are, and few are able to correctly name them. They do no harm, make no noise, follow the "Indian trail" style, and really have more fun than those who think their happy prerogative is to destroy property, tear down fences, upset buildings, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Wash Province of Ferguson road last Saturday night gave a party in honor of all Hallowe'en, at which a large number of friends enjoyed a fine evening and partook of a big feast.

A Cheerful Recommendation.
"They should be in every traveling man's grip," writes Geo. Jenner, 416 Labor St., San Antonio, Tex., of Foley Cathartic Tablets. "They are the best laxative I have taken and I cheerfully recommend them to anyone suffering with constipation or biliousness. They thoroughly cleanse and benefit the liver. They correct indigestion, bad breath, bloating, gas, coated tongue and other results of sluggish bowels. No griping, no nausea. Sold everywhere.—Adv."

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.
Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Redon, Ga., phoned to J. M. Floyd, the merchant there, for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said she had bought a bottle of it at his store, and that it was doing her children so much good that she wanted to keep up the treatment. You will find nothing better for coughs and colds in children or for yourself. It keeps the cough loose, expectation easy and soon frees the system from the cold.—Adv."

LEASES. The Liberty-Texas Oil Co. owns oil and gas leases on about 70 different blocks of acreage located in different sections of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, totaling about 24,000 acres. These leases run in size from a few small ones of 40 acres up to one block of approximately 3,000 acres. All have but recently been acquired by the Liberty-Texas Oil Co. and are so far undeveloped, with the exception of those in the Elbing Field, Butler County, Kansas, a map of which is reproduced below.

EXPLANATION. The leases on the three shaded sections just to the right of the center are owned and operated jointly and equally by the Liberty-Texas Oil Co. and the Gypsy Oil Co. Since this map was made Number 3 (marked as a drilling location) on this lease was brought in and in the first forty-eight hours over 1,600 barrels of oil were swabbed from the hole and it had only been drilled eight feet into the sand.

Number 2 on the same lease is now drilling at about 2,300 feet and is an offset to an 800-barrel well only 400 feet away on the adjoining lease to the East belonging to the Sinclair Oil and Gas Co.

Number 4 on the same lease is now drilling at about 600 feet and is an offset to a drilling well 400 feet away to the east of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Co.

The leases on the two shaded sections to the left are owned solely by the Liberty-Texas Oil Co., and drilling well Number 1 marked thereon, is now down about 900 feet. This well is an offset to a 500 barrel well only 400 feet away on the lease to the North owned by the Carter Oil Co.

According to geologists who have surveyed and studied every foot of this territory most carefully, the oil lies under the ground in the territory between the two dotted lines on the left section of this drawing and to the East (on the right) of the single circular dotted line. A study of the map will instantly show the great money making possibilities of these Elbing Pool leases.

"Until you can arrest her son!" Oh, for shame, monsieur! I exclaimed hotly with both real and assumed indignation. He tried to excuse himself. "But ze arrest of Monsieur Eugene is only a possibility—in case you fail to impress her with ze wisdom of returning ze diamonds immediately, a possibility zat you avoid for her entirely."

"Your obligations to Mrs. Delario are now such—"

"Oh—I appreciate it—ze situation is changed in an instant of time. But ze man he calls upon you and he asks you some questions about my daughter and you tell him—"

"He not nothing out of me—why, of course not!" I put him off till tomorrow—I wouldn't even let him in."

"He returns?" And he goes perhaps once more to Madame Delario and she tells him Claire's in her house."

"Monsieur bounded up at that, white as a sheet, and I was just trying to reassure him—telling him that Mrs. Delario would guard Claire as she would her own child—when the front bell rang."

I made a sign to him for silence, thinking it was Billy come back with his news, but wishing to keep on the safe side, went noisily along the hall and opened the door a crack against the chain bolt to recognize before I let anyone in."

"What, you here again?" I exclaimed testily, and in a voice loud enough for monsieur to hear—and I knew he was straining every nerve to do it, too."

"It came over me in a flash that now was my chance to get it 'coming and going'—that, having played on his fears for Claire, I'd see if I could play on his fears for himself; I'd make the detective talk loud enough for monsieur to learn something."

"I am sorry to trouble you again—after what you said," the detective apologized. "But the case is so urgent—if you will spare me ten minutes now, it may save a life."

"My reply was to laugh in the man's face. He drew back a step."

"If you come here pestering me any more about anything," I retorted, "I shall telephone for police protection. I don't know who you are, or what you are after, but I do know that when you came here the first time, you told me a pointblank lie and that is enough for me."

"He changed his tactics so suddenly it almost took my breath. He came close to the door and admitted, 'That is true—I did tell you a lie. It was rendered necessary by the extreme difficulties of the case in hand.'"

"Well—and what was the lie?"

"I told you I was looking for the daughter—knowing that you must have some little interest in her and would respond to my note and allow me to see you. I wished to find the daughter, but only that I might find her father."

"He stopped abruptly, as if hoping I'd say something to the point."

"Told you that I would see you tomorrow."

morrow."

"You may regret your delay," his lone sounded threatening.

"All right—then I'll regret it."

"Really madame I feel I must insist—for your own sake since you are acquainted with Monsieur De Ravol."

"I'd like to know what you mean coming here and forcing yourself on me this way," I cried, in partly feigned exasperation. "You haven't even troubled to tell me your name, and how do I know what you are?"

"Ah—so that is it," he smiled, and light appeared to break upon his understanding. "You are afraid of me!"

"I am."

He laughed. "Well, that is a confession! In five minutes—a one minute—I can convince you."

"I hope you can—tomorrow morning," said I, and pressed on the door to show him I had no more to say to him."

He hesitated, and then probably deciding that there was no more to gain by trying to force me to see him, told me, "I will return in the morning with credentials," and bowed himself off. He went down the stairs without ringing for the elevator."

I had totally forgotten monsieur and the diamonds—alone together—and my heart dropped into my boots as I turned from the door, and bounced up into my throat as I caught the first glimpse of him. He had tiptoed to the ball archedway and was pressed against it, where he could hear every word yet remain unseen. He was actually clinging there for support and shaking—not trembling, but shaking."

"Are you ill?" I asked, for he looked like a corpse."

He pointed to indicate the man who had just left, and gasped out "It is a plot against my daughter," staggered to the nearest chair and crumpled up in a heap."

CHAPTER XVIII.

Monsieur Explains.

From considerable experience with the Latin temperament, I long ago came to the conclusion that it "works in a mysterious way its wonders to perform," and certainly its emotional reactions are so much more histronic than one is accustomed to in Anglo-Saxon life that I was not completely unprepared when monsieur collapsed in a chair and buried his face in his hands and began to sob. "Even then I had a sneaking suspicion that he was not without an eye to the main chance in his dramatic effect on me. His fate was in my hands and he had to make every appeal that would work."

I said, "Ssh!" and tiptoed back along the hall, threw open the front door as wide as I could get it on the chain bolt, and peeped out to see if the detective had returned and was eavesdropping. But though I thought I heard a slight shuffling noise on the stairs, I could see nothing and did not dare investigate more intimately and went back to my study with another "Ssh!" to monsieur, who by this time was alive again to the case."

"It was you he was after—didn't you hear what he said?"

"Out—I hear everything—and it is my little Claire. He buried his face in his hands and his shoulders heaved as if he were weeping."

"Why not let Mrs. Delario take her immediately to California?" was the bright suggestion from me."

He met it with scorn. "How far does madame get with her? To Chicago? To Pittsburgh? Probably she does not even leave New York." She gets into a sleeping car and a man—two men—a man and a woman—perhaps—step up to her and say, 'You are kidnapping zat young girl—you are under arrest—come with us immediately!'" And Madame Delario—what does she do? She goes wild zenn—naturally, she dares not do otherwise. She gets in a carriage with ze strange people and they take her where ze police—she and I."

I didn't relish this sort of a scene with him and besides, time was pressing—If this man were trying to find Claire and kidnap her something had to be done immediately."

"Do you slak zat man suspects I am here?" asked monsieur, suddenly looking up."

"No—I don't see how he can. But I think he's trying to find out where you are."

"Oh! And why does he seek me? Only zat he knows if I have any daughter still wis me—ard can protect her from zoe who have already seek to steal her from me once before."

"Oh! Then you know who this is?"

"I do not see him but I slak to recognize his voice. It is a plot against us—it is a plot on ze part of France to prevent ze treaty wis Mexico. Oh! Mon Dieu—it has in some way become known zat I am ze secret messenger of ze emperor and spies are sent out to follow me and if not to kill me, at least to keep me from going to Mexico until it is too late!"

Monsieur put the case tersely. And tragically."

"And do you not see ze plot?" he cried. "Zey accuse me of some crime—zey have me put under arrest and while I am in prison zey get my little Claire."

"But what crime monsieur? You have not done anything on this side of the water have you, that any one can get hold of?"

"Bah! I do nassing! Zey bring forged papers from France—perhaps zey extradite me before I can even say farewell to my child!"

"But haven't you got some proofs on your side?" I ventured. "You can make it evident to the court—"

"To ze court?" he fairly hissed the words at me. "Mon Dieu—what is it you say? Ze messenger of ze emperor under arrest in America!" He drew out his handkerchief and wiped his brow. "What does it matter if I prove dis or zat—I am under arrest—she is left at ze mercy of zoe scoundrels! I could kill zem with my naked hands!"

a young girl can do nassing. I do not need to be told how easy it is—I have experience in zoe slugs—I know how easy it will be, even in your boasted New York and your America—because I know ze people I have to deal with."

"I realized that that was the way he had fixed it for me—the time he sent me the decoy telegram—but I did not remind him of it. Instead, I admitted."

"Yes—I see, it could be done. It wouldn't be safe."

"Zey care not for zat," he broke in. "Mon Dieu! How is she to be saved?" He looked at me and there were tears in his eyes."

"The only thing I could suggest was, 'We might appeal for police protection,' which he met with something between a groan and a shrug."

"Zey police? Never! We must exhaust all zat we can sink of to try—all places where we may hide, she and I."

"Mrs. Delario will conceal Claire and for myself—" he stopped to consider this a moment and asked again, "You do not slak zat so called de co five suspects zat I am here? Well zen I hide here for ze present."

"Oh, I can't keep you here!" I cried in some dismay."

"No, madame—I do not suggest it." He smiled a little. "But I can trust you to keep my confidence zat I have gone to my apartment below?"

"Oh, I remember! But how are you going to get into it? There's probably a man in the hall now waiting for you to come down."

"Ze fire escape—after dark. Zat is, if I dare trespass upon your hospitality for zis afternoon?"

"Yes of course. I answered as cordially as I could though the prospect didn't fill me with any joy—a whole afternoon shut up alone with him and the diamonds!"

"It really isn't safe for you to stay here. I began, when the rumble of the dumb-waiter gave me another bugat."

"And the fire escape won't hold, either—somebody would be sure to see you. You'll have to go down by the dumb-waiter and you'd better do it as soon as possible—in case that man comes back. And he will—I know he will!"

Monsieur considered this a moment and then asked, "But how should I arrive inside my own apartment? Ze door to zat little lift is shut and fastened on ze inside."

"I'll lend you my key and you can pry the door open. It's easy enough to do—the elevator boy once got into my own flat that way for me when I had lost my key—borrowed an key from some one in a flat below and came up the dumb-waiter."

"Ah—I see," and he agreed with me. "It would be safer for him to go. Thinking I might start him on his downward way and be rid of him before Billy came—and I was expecting him to return from Mrs. Delario's every minute and thought it much wiser to see him alone and hear the news about Claire—I stepped into the kitchen to get the icepick and show monsieur how to use it on his door."

"The dumb-waiter was rumbling up and up—apparently it was stopping at my flat, and thinking it might be something for me or else a mistake for the flat below, to which I would have to call down. 'You've got the wrong flat!' I stopped a moment icepick in hand to see if the bell would ring. There was a slight pushing against the dumb-waiter door—three or four

THE SOISSON.

"MAN'S DESIRE"—Starring Lewis S. Stone, distributed by Exhibitors Mutual, is being presented today.

It is a vivid drama of the timber country with a "kick" in every reel. By "kick" is meant punch, and following-out that line of thought, "Man's Desire" seems to be concentrated on something with a kick and a punch to it. The kick and punch in this dramatic drama leave no headache in their wake.

The desire of Tom Denton was a normal, healthy and manly craving—to make a good woman happy. Tom had other desires, too, which were more or less praiseworthy. One was to "get" the scoundrel who had killed his brother in cold blood and had terrorized the girl Tom wished to make happy, into a compulsory marriage.

Tom Denton was a "straight shooter" in everything. He played square with his partner whose wife tried to vamp him. He played square with the girl whose brutal husband mistreated her. He was a "straight shooter"—and a fast one—when he came up with "Bull" Larkin and "Big" him with his choicer. A selected comedy is also included.

Constance Talmadge
"A Temperamental Wife"

Monday and Tuesday, Constance Talmadge will be starred in "A Temperamental Wife."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"A WHITE MAN'S CHANCE"—A splendid production in which Warren J. Kerrigan is even in the leading role is today's feature. The picture is in five acts and is interesting from the beginning to the end. A roaring comedy is also being shown.

Monday and Tuesday, Alice Joyce will be seen in "The Winchester Woman," one of the most powerful vehicles Miss Joyce has ever had. She is supported by a remarkably clever cast. The scenic settings are full of picturesque charm, and the dwellings and interior views are all cast in rich designs, governed by good taste. There is an old time hotel, whose history runs back 100 years, used as the setting for some of the most important scenes.

Don't Disregard a Cold.

The influenza and pneumonia that swept the country a year ago were preceded by an epidemic of colds. Foley's Honey and Tar will check a cold if taken in time, and will also stop a cough of long standing. It promptly gives relief, soothes and heals. Mrs. Geneva Robinson, 58 N. Swan St., Albany, N. Y., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough medicine I ever used. Two bottles broke a most stubborn lingering cough." It loosens phlegm and mucous, clears air passages, eases hoarseness, stops tickling throat. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

ANOTHER SLIGHT MISHAP

Record Only Four In 12 Days In Local Territory In Safety Drive.

With 13 days of the accident prevention campaign on the railroads the list of accidents in Connellsville territory stood at four today, two of these having been on the Western Maryland and one on the Baltimore & Ohio. While he was uncoupling an air hose here Wednesday Drakeman W. H. Eckman, of the Baltimore & Ohio was slightly hurt when the hose jerked back and struck him below the knee. The Pittsburg & Lake Erie and the Pennsylvania has gone thus far without an accident.

There was a rally of brotherhood men at the Y. M. C. A. at Dickerson Run Wednesday night that comfortably filled the auditorium. Rev. H. A. Baum presided. Rev. A. E. Glennon of Dawson was the speaker of the evening.

This includes weights and measures equivalents, weights per bushel of the more common vegetables and fruits, weights per cup of household commodities, such as sugar, butter, lard, flour and rice. Much other useful information is condensed upon this card.

Until the supply is exhausted, copies of this publication may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., and requesting Miscellaneous Publications—No. 39, Household Weights and Measures.

NEW POOL PARLOR

Today's Reading Puts New Ideas Into His Business.

Today marks the opening of the Liberty Pool parlor on the second floor of the Munson building. Visitors who have seen the place say it is one of the classiest in the city, being well lighted and ventilated and having that "clubby" look which is missing in many such parlors.

The Liberty will feature the latest pool novelties and there will be magazines and newspaper for those who drop in for a social moment. Today's Reading, the genial proprietor, plans to make it a club, rather than a pool room in the old sense.
